

FIGURE 18.18. The plant Oenothera organensis is restricted to a few canyons in the Organ Mountains of New Mexico and numbers fewer than 1000 plants in total. Despite that, it maintains many polymorphic self-incompatibility alleles.

18.18, photo courtesy of Walt and Mimi Miller, www.ramblinccameras.com

Evolution © 2007 Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory Press